This paper presents the basic investigation and design for solving the problem of pile foundation failure. The illustrated procedures included the bank protection of deep excavation. The pile tip of bored pile (dry process) was installed on the first sand layer. The new foundation was jacked to the existing foundation by screw jack as prestress force before placing concrete at the new footing.